

Nature will prevail,

a favorite Song

Sung by

M^r MUNDEN

in the Comic Opera of

THE CABINET

Ent. at the Hall.

Pr 1/

composed by J. Moorehead the words by J. Dibdin.

Printed by T. Jones 23 Bishopsgate Within

Allegro
con Brio

Says the Fa-ble so pat, once a Man had a Cat, of beau-ty and manners un-com-mon, with wonder-ful taste she could swallow a Rat, wash her face with a grace, ogle purr and all that, 'till her Master who didnt know what to be at, pray'd

Ve-nus to make her a Woman Thus a f

strange metamorphosis love brought a-bout, her ears they sunk in and her p

nose it came out, while her whiskers and tail, Found their p f p

of-fi-ces fail, And her eyes bright and green as goose-f p

-ber-ries, turn'd black as two Sloes, claws to fingers and toes, and her lips to a cou-ple of Cher-ries, while her whiskers and tail found their

of-fi-ces fail, and her eyes bright and green as goose-ber-ries turn'd black as two sloes, claws to fin-gers and toes, and her lips to a cou-ple of cherries

f

2

Puss married her master, but short his delight, Repentance in wedlock is common:
She slept all the day, kept awake all the night,
He thought she could swear, and he knew she could fight,
And woe to a mouse, if it came in her sight,
Which proves a cat, can't be a woman.
Hubby's prayers, now, a second exchange brought about Her nose it fell in, and her ears they grew out, While her whiskers and tail
No longer did fail,
Her lips no more pouted like cherries,
She had claws to her toes
And her eyes from black sloes Turn'd to two pretty little Gooseberries.